

SECRET SERVICE MAKES IMPORTANT CAPTURE IN WEST

One Rudolph Swanson Held for Circulating Bogus
$10. Notes.

One of the most important captures made for a long time by the Secret Service is believed to have been made at Chicago, where a man giving the name of Rudolph Swanson has been arrested, charged with the circulation of bogus $10 notes.

Chief Wilkie of the Secret Service, has received dispatches from his operatives in Chicago telling of the arrest. It is looked on here as one of much moment. Recently, announcement was made by the Secret Service division of the Treasury that two dangerous counterfeiters had made their appearance, both being $10 national bank notes. They have been circulating on the Pacific coast and in the Rocky mountain country, especially about Denver and Salt Lake.

The notes are fairly good imitations and have been giving the Secret Service not a little concern. Recently circular letters were given out by Assistant Chief Moran, of the Secret Service, describing them and calling attention to their dangerous character.

Swanson Makes Denial.
Swanson, the man arrested, answers the descriptions furnished of the party who is supposed to have "shoved" the counterfeit. He denies it. But he is held in Chicago and will be given a hearing Wednesday. He is aged about forty years, is a Lithuanian, and speaks Russian. That his arrest may prove the beginning of the revelation of a serious counterfeiting conspiracy is possible, though on the question of whether others are back of Swanson the Secret Service officials are silent. Swanson has been in Denver and Salt Lake, where counterfeiters have lately been circumscribed. The Secret Service is investigating his antecedents to ascertain if he has a record as a counterfeiter in the past.

A year ago, counterfeit $10 notes appeared and caused worry to the Secret Service, then suddenly stopped circulating. They have now reappeared, seemingly from the same source as before.

Six New Members for Union Veteran Union

Six new members are to be admitted to Wadsworth Command, No. 2, Union Veteran Union, at the next regular meeting Wednesday night. This command, according to reports made at the last meeting Tuesday, is in a flourishing condition. A report of the last annual encampment recently held at Rochester, N. Y., was made Tuesday by Adj. S. F. Hamilton.

All soldiers, sailors, and marines of the civil war who served six months, or who were honorably discharged before that time on account of injuries, are eligible to membership in the Union Veteran Union.

Garden Maintained For Colored Pupils

The only school garden maintained for colored children by the Board of Education is located at Deanwood, D. C., one a plot 100 feet long and seventy-five wide. This plot is subdivided so as to allow for two types of gardening—the individual and community types. Of the individual type there are forty-eight varying in size from six by nine feet to ten by twelve. The whole garden is surrounded by a floral border of cosmos, four o'clocks, and sunflowers. The gardens were formally opened on July 1, and ever since interest has been manifested by parents and children. The first seeds were planted July 11, and by a system of intensive gardening adopted by N. A. Murray, of Cornell University, the teacher in charge, the narrow space has produced 5,000 radishes, 24 bushels of radish and turnip tops, 200 heads of lettuce, 30 bushels of kale, 20 bushels of string beans, 5 bushels of turnips, 4 pecks of lima beans, 20 bushels of tomatoes, 2 bushels of beets, and 20 ears of corn.

Holy Name Society Going To Baltimore Congress

About 1,000 members of the Holy Name Society, headed by the Very Rev. J. R. Meagher, of St. Dominic's Church, will attend the first national congress of the Holy Name Society in Baltimore, which is to be held in connection with the cardinal's jubilee celebration, October 16 to 18.

The club members held a meeting last night, at which it was decided to take along a band for the parade on the afternoon of the 16th. It is expected that there will be several thousand delegates in line for the parade.

The Washington delegates will arrive in Baltimore in plenty of time to attend the opening session on the 16th at 9 o'clock, in which dignitaries of the church will participate, including the cardinal. The parade will occur in the afternoon, and in the evening services will be held in the cathedral.

Hospitals and Soldiers' Homes to Be Inspected

Surgeon General Torney, of the army, and Inspector General Garlington, will begin long inspection tours next week. The surgeon general will go West and examine the general hospital at San Francisco, and will later visit all the army hospitals in the West coast section. The inspector general will visit all the soldiers' homes in the country.

Curtis Says Canada Will Vote Reciprocity

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Curtis, in charge of customs, has returned to Washington. Mr. Curtis, who will be at his desk from now on, has been taking a vacation and has been in Canada most of the time. He was in nearly all the eastern provinces and talked with many people on reciprocity. He expressed the opinion that the liberals would win the coming election and that reciprocity would be endorsed.

Mr. Curtis says the Canadians are deeply in earnest over the present contest and regard the issues raised as the most important since the Dominion was formed.

A PREDICTION—Every One of These 10 Homes Will Be Sold in a Day or So

Here's a Rare Opportunity to Own AN ELEGANT 8 ROOM HOME

(ON TWO (2) FLOORS)

On 14th Street N. W. (In the 3600 Block)
(Between Perry and Spring Road)

$500

Is All the Cash Required

WE PREDICT the immediate sale of these homes because we know real estate values—because we realize the great demand in Washington for just this type of house—because we know that they cannot be duplicated right now in a refined residential section such as this for less than in the neighborhood of a thousand dollars more than our present price.

Why, if these houses do not sell almost instantly, we will take them off the market and wait for a much higher price when Congress reconvenes this winter.

The Exteriors

The exteriors are simply beautiful, and that's no misuse of the word. Of beautiful hard brick construction, substantially reinforced with steel—the kind of structure that will practically last forever. The beauty of the fronts is greatly enhanced by spacious individual colonial porches and big bay windows—terraced lawns, with broad cement walks. A feature of the porches is the artistic flower boxes. But the owner of a home lives inside instead of on the outside.

The Interiors

Not until you step inside can you begin to appreciate the full beauty and worth of these homes. And comfort and convenience have not been lost sight of in the interior designing.

There are four large, light, airy rooms on each floor, with a new idea sanitary bathroom and linen closet on the second floor. Underneath the entire house is the cement cellar, equipped with the very best hot-water heating plant obtainable (hot-water heater already attached). Also complete laundry, with stationary tubs and running water. Likewise a servants' toilet.

A House You Will Point to With Pride as "My Home."

But the living rooms are first in importance, and well they demand your first consideration. The finish is hardwood throughout, with massive columned entrance connecting both the parlor and dining room with the reception room. And this reception room is a perfect gem, with its open stairway and low seat "cozy corner." Massive art mantles with gas log, fireplaces. The floors throughout are double hardwood (parquetry) on both floors.

PRICE
$6,500

$44.37 Monthly

You Save About $\frac{1}{2}$ of This Monthly Payment

Such a house would rent for the amount of your monthly payments. Here, though, you are paying for a home of your own—not for a bundle of landlord's receipts from year to year. And but $500 cash is required to make you the immediate owner.

Think this over. But you will have to think quickly. The wise home seeker will not wait for tomorrow, but will come out this afternoon or tonight and place his option ahead of the nine other home seekers who are bound to make these houses their homes before closing time Sunday. Remember, there are only ten of these houses. Your opportunity is lost with the sale of the tenth one.
